President's Message

When I was first elected to serve as a governor on the Central States Board in 2012, I thought that my mission was to represent my “constituency” from back home in Nebraska. Indeed, almost everything that I saw, heard and experienced during that time confirmed that the other elected officials shared the same view.

It took seeing a six-figure deficit, generated by programs that conferred substantial benefits on only a tiny minority of our members, and observing persistent efforts by some board members to critically micromanage our only surplus-producing program, our convention, to move me to undertake a two-year course of study at the University of Nebraska on nonprofit management.

That education opened my eyes to the standards that commonly govern the operation of all nonprofit organizations. First and foremost of these universally accepted standards of governance is the principle that nonprofit boards are obligated to look out for, take care of and meet the needs of the organization itself. Boards are not there to serve select subgroups of members, whether they be friends, business clients or even individual members themselves.

What exactly am I talking about? A very tiny minority of our members, for example, have grouched that our annual dues have been raised to $25. During our last fiscal year, disregarding convention income and expenses, our programs cost roughly $100 per member to support, while producing income from dues, advertising and other sources that amounted to less than $30 per member. Or, reflect on the fact that after the Board instituted a nominal registration fee ($5 per day or $10 for all four public days) to help support our activities, an again very tiny minority of the membership sent angry letters to the secretary, either threatening to or actually resigning from the organization.

In my own experience one has to search long and hard to find any show or convention type event that doesn't expect the attendees who benefit from it to contribute financially to maintaining it and helping sustain its future.

These are just a few of the examples. I could go on with many more, but the basic idea is that we have far too-long championed programs that served far too few at a considerable cost. My basic governance approach is to look at what works, as measured by what our members actually support and participate in, and take steps to strengthen and enhance those initiatives, while at the same time reducing or suspending support for programs that our members have demonstrated don't really matter to them by not participating or otherwise lending their own financial support to.

"But our educational mission requires"..... Let's look at that perspective for a moment. Waste is not mission fulfillment. That bears repeating. Waste is not mission fulfillment. Being a nonprofit does not mean that we are a charity. A nonprofit is a business, and we need to operate like one. Spending money simply to satisfy a limited group of people may work for governments, but I believe we need to focus on outcome-based decision-making and do what we can to be self-sustaining. Catering to interests, no matter how sincere and well-intentioned they may be, reduces our ability to focus on what really works and what our strengths are.

(For details, please see the Education Director's Report on Page 8.)

One of the most important reforms I see a need for is to focus more of our educational dollars and energy on educating the Board itself. I'll be introducing university-level educational opportunities for our Board members – who collectively are and can be even more of an asset to the organization – to help them understand how nonprofits in the larger economy actually operate.

I know that undertaking such a course of study was a real eye opener for me and has materially enhanced my ability to be an effective leader for CSNS. Our Board, like any in service to a nonprofit, needs to be educated in principles, concepts and practices that will help CSNS not only survive but thrive.

Being a hobbyist, a collector, I would like to challenge others like myself to become involved in hobby leadership. From my perspective on the collector side, I see a need for people to become more involved, not simply to have an impressive title on a business card or to expect more freebies or services for our home organizations.

Some collectors bemoan the influence dealers have on the hobby and on numismatic organizations in general. Why is this, when they, after all, foot most of the bills for the programs we all enjoy? Think of where our organization would be without the income stream produced by our bourse dealers, early birds and our auction company? They are really the ones largely sustaining the programs that we all benefit from. "Oh, but they buy booths at our convention so they can make money." Is something wrong with that? How many of the rest of us have ever knowingly purchased a numismatic item without the ultimate hope that at some point in the future it would return a profit to us?

Our dealer members are not an endless cash spigot that we can just turn on to reap continued benefits from. One of the most important obligations of a nonprofit board member is to engage in fundraising. Indeed, the majority of our convention sponsors are, in fact, dealers in our organization. I hope that it isn't too revolutionary an idea to suggest that coin clubs and individuals can and should be undertaking sponsorship support, as well.

It may be uncomfortably direct to repeat the old adage, "Money talks." I've also heard it expressed another way, "He talks the talk, but does he walk the walk?" Both versions make the valid point that everyone who benefits, and not just our dealers and auction company, needs to undertake more of a role in making direct financial contributions to our organization. We all reap benefits far above and beyond the level of the dues we pay.

As we all know, our hobby is changing – and changing at a rapid pace. Conventions, shows and numismatic organizations are challenged on many fronts. I hope that you will all lend your support to the results-based decision-making and governance approach that we will be undertaking during my term. We all know what the hobby has meant to us, the relaxation and happiness that it has brought to all of us and the children sent to college and homes purchased from our efforts if we are dealers.

For many of us there has been recognition that it is time to give back. It is time to see ourselves as more than just a "big coin club" and recognize ourselves for what we really are – a nonprofit organization with 2,100+ members and a numismatic mission. Our mission is to help sustain the future of our organization and the hobby by sharing our interests with each other and with newcomers, by being welcoming and generous in sharing our knowledge and by helping ignite in others the passion so many of us feel about numismatics.

We as an organization will continue to do just that, with our club DVD program, our local speaker subsidy program, The Centinel and our highly respected educational exhibit area and convention-based educational forum.

The stronger we become by sustaining what works and what has a broadly based, demonstrated record of support and participation by our membership, the stronger and better we will be for everyone.

Mitch Ernst

Education Director's Report

Bob Dylan once wrote, "The times they are a changing..." Like our times, our education programs are changing, as well. After analysis and review, the Board has voted to suspend some programs that were shown to be less than cost effective and some that were shown to be less popular with our membership. The programs suspended are: the library book program, author grant program and the traveling seminars.

The programs that we will be continuing have shown to have your support and also effectively share our educational mission. The continuing programs are the club speaker program and the DVD program.

At the convention we will also continue our very popular and well-supported speaker programs. The Heritage Educational Forum will continue due to the substantial sponsorship by Heritage Auctions. We will also continue our popular exhibit area at the convention. And, we are excited to announce an addition to our education offerings at the convention. The History in Your Hands Foundation, a Chicago-based numismatic educational organization, will be leading our programs for beginning and young collectors.

It's been said, "No one likes change." That may very well be true. Change is hard. It upsets the status quo and the things of which we have become familiar. Yes, the times they are a changing... and even though change is hard to accept, this change is necessary.

From the Convention Chairman

Our 79th Anniversary Convention is now history. It doesn't seem possible that this year marks the 21st of these events that I've managed for the organization. There are many changes that have taken place in the trade over the years. Despite those challenges, and especially despite the challenges presented by the current rather depressed economic environment the trade finds itself in, we, and our convention, remain an important and vital part of the numismatic scene.

Moving forward, there has been a development that will serve only to reinforce and enhance the vigor of our convention. For many years we have been typed as primarily a U.S.-oriented event. In the Chicago market for many years, a function originally founded by dealer Ed Milas, the former Chicago International Coin Fair, was an equally vital part of the world and ancient numismatic scene. In the wake of the demise of that event Chicago dealer Sammy Berk managed for the past two years at downtown venues a new specialty event aimed at the world and ancient areas – the Chicago Coin Expo.

During and shortly after the conclusion of that event, held the weekend prior to CSNS this year, Mr. Berk and a number of the world and ancient dealers approached CSNS to suggest that it would be in the best interests of all for the Chicago Coin Expo to become affiliated with CSNS, rather than continuing as an independent event at a separate site. That will be happening in 2019 and moving forward. Our 300+ booth bourse area will have a special dedicated world and ancient section effective in 2019. In addition, our official auction company, Heritage, will be adding a world and ancient specialty auction to their offerings. They will now have three separate sales with us. U.S. coins, paper money and now, world and ancient coins and paper money.

An especially innovative approach to numismatic education that had been affiliated with the Chicago Coin Expo, but had operated on a year-round basis, especially focused on outreach to younger and beginning collectors, is Sammy Berk's History in Your Hands Foundation. This is an ongoing initiative that throughout the year sponsors educational programs aimed at a younger and beginning audience.

One of the handicaps that CSNS has faced in that area over the past is that very simply we are in town once each year, whereas the History in Your Hands Foundation is based in Chicago and its principals actually live here. Next year Mr. Berk's History in Your Hands group will be primarily responsible for the actual conduct of our outreach programs in this area at the convention. That will give them the enhancement of a major event to actually operate during, while at the same time benefitting our objectives by offering CSNS the asset of continuity.

This association seems a natural to me and one that our Board endorses and is more than enthusiastic about. From a purely commercial standpoint our dealers will now have access to an entirely new dealer base that we have largely lacked in the past. All will also benefit from the fact those individuals whose primary interest is in the world and ancient area will have a new incentive to add CSNS to their convention calendar. In fact, with the broadened Heritage auction sessions, we will become even more of a “must attend” for serious numismatic participants, whether dealers or collectors.

As you all know, our recent election resulted in considerable turnover on our governing Board. Newly installed President Mitch Ernst conducted his first Board meeting on Sunday. From the standpoint of substantive accomplishments I believe this meeting to be the most significant since I first became a participant in CSNS Board meetings in 1980.

In addition to all the Board members in attendance signing a written sexual harassment policy, the entire Board present signed a detailed Board governance policy. These documents together set forth in considerable detail what amounts to a framework that will provide for the more orderly and effective administration and governance of the organization in the future. The Board governance policy will be an especially helpful document moving ahead to help guide the Board in collective and individual obligations. You will find the Sexual Harassment Guidance and Policy on page 26 and the Code of Conduct and Governing Policies on page 27.

Both are transformative documents that everyone who receives The Centinel will benefit from reading. One of the elected officials remarked to me after coming out of President Ernst’s first Board meeting that he felt “energized” by what had taken place. I do, too, and would also add the word “reinvigorated.”

In addition, Chicago attorney Tamara Holder, who represents plaintiffs in sexual harassment actions, gave a detailed several hour long educational session to the new Board on Sunday in this important litigation area, educating all of us in considerable detail relative to both our collective obligations as a Board, as well as our individual obligations to the organization and to victims, both in the areas of prevention and remediation.

Chicago attorney Tamara Holder, back to camera, addresses the Board.

For anyone who thinks this is the fluffy and trendy issue of the day that will soon pass into memory, it would be well to read about the multimillion dollar settlements being entered into on behalf of victims by both perpetrators and organizations that failed to act when they knew or should have known. Time searching our own moral codes about the impact this type of conduct has on victims, quite apart from the legalities involved, would also be in order, simply in our capacity as human beings with obligations to each other.

Indeed, on the very Sunday that Ms. Holder met with our Board, a major sexual harassment action she is bringing on behalf of employees of a number of Twin Peaks restaurants was one of two above the fold front page articles in the Chicago Tribune and occupied a full page in the first section. I believe that her talk with us was a real eye opener and that the knowledge that she left us all with will leave us substantially better equipped to recognize and fulfill our ethical and legal obligations in this area.

Kevin Foley

A member's complaint

Convention Chairman Kevin Foley:

I could not have been more disappointed than I was with your show. I arrived shortly after 1:00 on Saturday. I had a bad feeling as soon as I drove up and saw MANY dealers outside packing up. When I got inside I found 1/2 the dealers were gone and many of the rest were packing up. What a terrible experience.

The convention program said the bourse was to be open until 5:00. I came from Indianapolis and work during the week so Saturday was my only option. I realize I am mad now and that colors my thinking but if this is what dealers think of consumers I seriously have to reconsider my time and money that I put into this hobby.

Brian Schaff

Our correspondent is correct in everything he says. We should all be embarrassed and beyond. Vendors at home shows don't do what he complains about, nor do those at art fairs, at food or wine events, at medical or legal trade shows, nor even at low-end flea markets.

How can we expect the public to take us seriously and respect us as a trade when we can't bring ourselves to show them the minimal respect of even being there when we've induced them to come to our event from miles away at a cost to them of their expenses to travel and of their time --- which is every bit as valuable to them as ours is to us. And please, don't even whisper the cop out of saying "limited dealers" in ads about our last day gets us off the hook. It simply institutionalized and proclaims our chronic pattern of disrespect for our public attendees. If we want to be regarded as professionals we need to start behaving as if we are. -- Kevin Foley

While I try to have something relatively new to say in these Centinel messages, either about our convention in general or comments about the organization itself, I'd like to depart from that and simply repeat what I had to say in my message that appeared in the printed convention program for our just concluded 79th Anniversary Convention. Those remarks, only slightly edited for this context, appear below.

Although our convention is an upbeat time in the lives of all our attendees and provides an enthusiastic focus for our common interest in numismatics, I learned just hours before sitting down to share my thoughts about the event with all of you of an event that will certainly sadden all of us, but at the same time as we reflect on it, cause us all to refocus on the commonality of the bonds of friendship and shared interests that really is the basis of our sense of community.

Ray Lockwood

Ray Lockwood, our long-time Board member and education director, passed away March 29. In talking about our convention and organization, it is difficult not to also talk about Ray Lockwood. One of my favorite parts of the convention is really something that Ray was far more involved in than I am, our educational forum. Being a real convention means being more than being just a really big coin show. As our education director, Ray bore the primary responsibility for producing that aspect of our convention. He was always more than equal to the challenges inherent in finding interesting speakers, engaging their services and then making certain that all the ancillary support they needed was there when they needed it.

Our educational programs were largely Ray's handiwork. Those who knew Ray were aware that in his other life he was a high school teacher in the area of American history. Quite literally education and the sharing of knowledge were Ray's life. Another way that he shared his love of education was through his long-term involvement in our educational exhibit area. Our current educational exhibit chairman, Jack Huggins, was preceded in that responsibility by Fran Lockwood, who during her long tenure was supported and assisted by husband Ray. Indeed, both of the Lockwoods continued even after Fran stepped down from that position to lend hands-on support to our entire exhibiting program.

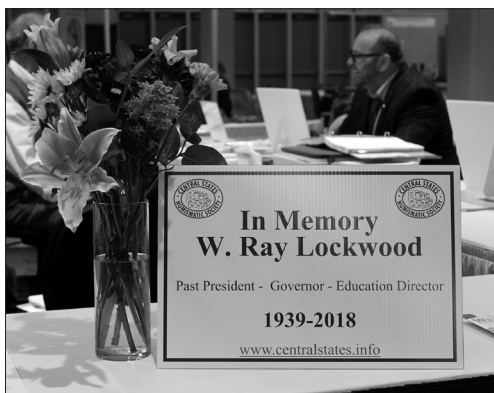

Ray loved the exhibit area and for many years was a fixture in the exhibit office, helping welcome the exhibitors and generally lending a helping hand to that overall aspect of our convention. Certainly when anyone who has had a constructive impact on our lives passes away it is natural to feel a sense of sadness and grief, yet in the case of Ray Lockwood, I'll also feel a sense of how much he enriched the lives of the people he came in contact with, both in his other life as a career educator and in his subsequent roles in the Central States Numismatic Society. I believe that Ray served in one capacity or another as an elected official of CSNS for 24 years, almost half of his adult life. In many ways Ray left his imprint on our organization and was influential in making us what we are today. His contributions to our educational programs are his legacy not simply to the Central States Numismatic Society, but to the wider world of numismatics.

So, for those of you who knew Ray, I hope that as you attend the programs that he arranged for as part of our educational forum this year you'll think a bit about the imprint he leaves on our organization and the vision he had that expresses itself in the lectures he arranged for this year to enhance your overall convention experience.

I know that those who were his friends will certainly miss Ray, but I hope realizing that he led the kind of life that mattered, mattered to his family, his own Marion, Indiana, community and to us in the Central States Numismatic Society, will help us all focus on how his life enriched all of us here, whether we can count ourselves among those privileged to know and work with him or those to whom he was simply a name in the convention program booklet.

We should all be remembered as fondly.

In memoriam

Education Director Ray Lockwood dies

Ray Lockwood, Central States' affable, avuncular and gregarious education director died March 29 in Orlando, FL. He was 79.

Ray, formally Walter Ray Lockwood Jr., was a frequent sight at coin shows across the country, staffing the Central States table and helping his wife Fran manage some of the nation's largest coin show exhibit areas, notably at FUN and Central States.

His booming voice could be heard at countless numismatic events, introducing speakers at coin show educational forums and welcoming new members to CSNS seminars in the Midwest and, last year, in Canada.

Ray was sworn in as a Central States governor during the 1994 CSNS convention, which was held that year in his home state of Indiana, and became education director in 2007, a position he used as a base to expand the organization's commitment to education during the following decade

In his last education director's column in The Centinel last winter, Ray wrote, "The time has quickly flown by and the journey has been fun and, hopefully, fruitful." In the end, he was able to travel one last time to Orlando, FL, where he spent his final days with his family.

Ray was born in Redbank, NJ, to the late Walter Ray and Phyllis (Zorn) Lockwood. After receiving his bachelor's degree from Ball State University, he accepted his first teaching position at Salem Center High School. In 1962 he moved to Marion (IN) Community Schools, where he enthusiastically taught social studies and history. He earned his masters degree in education in 1964 from Indiana University and moved to school administration in 1968. After being a Marion Community Schools administrator for several years, he returned to the classroom to teach U.S. history to junior high students until retirement in 1997.

He was an avid coin collector and served as president and governor of the Indiana State Numismatic Association. He was a life member of Central States Numismatic Society, a member of numerous other clubs including the Marion, Muncie and Anderson coin clubs, Florida United Numismatists, American Numismatic Association and Royal Canadian Numismatic Association. He was also an honorary life member of the Michigan State Numismatic Society.

After his retirement in 1997, Ray began working as a volunteer at Marion General Hospital. In his free time he and Fran enjoyed traveling the globe visiting historical places where they made many friendships.

Ray is also survived by two children, Karen Kay (Dan) Taylor, Hilliard, OH; Mark A. Lockwood, Gas City, IN; and six grandchildren.

CSNS Convention General Chairman Kevin Foley recalled, "As convention chairman I worked closely with Ray Lockwood each year to plan and implement our Educational Forum. Ray was always a delight to work with, having constructive and thoughtful suggestions as to how things could be improved and just generally always keeping in sight the goal of doing things in a way that would have a positive ultimate impact. I'll miss his sound judgment, clever wit and, very simply, his general good nature. The organization was enriched by his contributions and will continue to be long into the future."

Gov. Bradley Karoleff, said, "I will miss that baritone voice of welcome. Ray encouraged me to become more involved with CSNS." That sentiment was echoed by former Gov. David Heinrich, who said, "Ray was our family's first contact with Central States at I believe, an Indiana State show where our daughter Katie exhibited for the first time. He encouraged her to exhibit at CSNS the following year, which she did and that was our beginning with CSNS and the larger world of numismatics. That journey changed our lives in many positive ways and we have Ray to thank for it. We will miss him."

Gov. Andrew Kimmel said, called him "a giant in our hobby. May his memory inspire us to perform good deeds and continue his work."

The funeral service was held April 7 at First PC of Grant County Presbyterian Church, 601 S. Main Street, Jonesboro, IN.

Memorial contributions may be made to the First PC of Grant County Presbyterian Church choir or the Central States Numismatic Education Exhibit Awards.

In 2016, Ray and Fran began sponsoring and underwriting the awards for the U.S. Paper Money category.

Jack D. Huggins, Jr., Educational Exhibit Chairman, said in a letter to exhibitors, "In thinking of the most suitable way to memorialize Ray Lockwood's record of service to the world of exhibiting, Ray's wife of 53 years, Fran, has asked that donations be made to the Central States Numismatic Society to underwrite and endow the future of the Lockwood Family Awards. Each and every one of us know how much the educational exhibit area meant to Ray and will continue to mean to Fran."

A donation envelope is enclosed in this magazine. If it is missing, please send donations to Jack Huggins, CSNS, Box 24267, Belleville, IL 62223.

79th Anniversary Convention

Departing CSNS governors honored

Departing Central States governors were honored for their service with the Marjorie Owen Hendershott CSNS Board Service Award at the 79th Anniversary Convention awards breakfast April 28.

A tearful Fran Lockwood accepted the award on behalf of her late husband, Ray Lockwood, who died March 29. Ray joined the CSNS board in 1994, served as president from 2000 to 2002 and was the organization's education director for the last decade.

Other awards were presented to:

Jack D. Huggins Jr., who joined the board in 1996. He will continue to serve as treasurer and chief exhibit judge.

the board from 2008 to 2018 and was vice president the last two years.

James S. Moore, who served on the board from 2004 to 2018 and was president from 2012 to 2014.

Francis Hawks, who together with his wife Karen staffed the Central States table at CSNS anniversary conventions and other coin shows for several years. He joined the board in 2014.

A card of thanks

My family and I sincerely thank all of our numismatic friends for their unfailing support and love during this past year.

Your kind words, visits, beautiful flowers, memorial gifts and attendance at Ray's service made a touching celebration of his life. He will truly be missed by his wife, sister, children and grandchildren.

Numismatics, education, study of history, family and traveling were the core of his life.

Sexual harassment can be costly, dealers, collectors, officials told

Society is undergoing a profound change in how women are treated in the workplace. Businesses and organizations that fail to prepare may pay dearly, attorney Tamara Holder, a former Fox News contributor and a victim of sexual harassment, warned collectors, dealers and members of the Central States Numismatic Society Board.

Former Fox News contributor Tamara Holder said sexual harassment usually involves an imbalance of power.

During a presentation titled Sexual Harassment Liability Issues for Numismatic Employers, Event Sponsors and Organizations, she said many men, including Fox's Roger Ailes, CBS This Morning host Charlie Rose, comedian Louis C.K. and film producer Harvey Weinstein, have lost their careers and incomes due to behaviors that they engaged in.

She said, "It would be a horrible mistake to think that these stories in the news about famous other people can't happen to anyone else in society who conducts themselves in a sexually inappropriate way."

The costs, she said, include damage to reputations, huge legal fees, expensive settlements and the loss of institutional knowledge that accompanies the dismissal of a key person.

Holder knows about this from personal experience. Last year, she received a reported $2.5 million settlement from 21st Century Fox after she accused an executive of sexually assaulting her in his office.

She said, "This is about protecting your home and your business and all of the money that you worked so hard to save"

A sea change in the workplace

Chicago civil rights attorney Tamara Holder prefaced her presentation with a reflection on the sudden and consequential change in the workplace.

I want to talk about how every once in awhile there is a profound sea change in our culture. A behavior that was broadly viewed as acceptable for a variety of reasons suddenly becomes unacceptable, and in some cases illegal.

Prohibition is an example. "What do you mean I can't have a drink?" It happened though, and drinking was acceptable and then suddenly it became illegal.

The civil rights movement was also a sea change. It was acceptable to have slaves. It was acceptable to treat African Americans as second-class citizens. And then suddenly it became illegal and unacceptable. So these are changes that you can agree or disagree with, but you have to realize that it's happened.

At this moment in time, we are in the midst of a sea change that has a profound impact on society and is just as important as other sea changes in our history. That is why I am talking today because this is a sea change. How we treat women and other people in the workplace is something that, whether or not you accept it or you like it or you think it's full of crap, it's happened and it's happening.

I want to also help you understand that it is a mistake to think that this sea change in terms of sexual harassment and abuse in the workplace is only an issue for people in show business and television - a Charlie Rose, Louis C.K., Bill Cosby, Harvey Weinstein.

This is a mistake. And I want to help you ensure that this is not going to happen to you, and your place of business and with this numismatic society. ... And I would venture to guess that this mistake has happened in this organization at some point, whether you know about it or not, and other organizations and organizations that you're a part of or in your workplace. This is what happens in every corner of society.

The consequences of making this mistake are millions of dollars in payments to victims.

Holder discussed the problem in general terms during a nearly hour-long presentation as part of the Heritage Numismatic Education Forum during the convention and in depth during a morning session with CSNS Board members and officials the day after the convention.

She said businesses and organizations should start by hiring a knowledgeable attorney to familiarize them with the law, draft a code of conduct and craft punishment protocols.

At the outset, she said, companies need to familiarize themselves with the law. “This means your colleagues and everyone who works for your company and organization. Everyone must be educated. ... You don't think that you are (a sexual harasser), but maybe the person that thinks that you're sexually harassing them thinks that you are. So this is something that is important from the bottom up in your organization (that) you need to develop.”

Holder said, “At the end of the day, this is about self awareness. Most people aren't predators. Most people aren't bad people. It is getting yourself in a situation because you have a hot colleague or you're just being flirtatious and you think that's okay.”

The code of conduct should be agreed to by everyone, she said. Constituencies that must understand this policy including potential perpetrators, potential victims, potential witnesses, executives and managers. It's important, too, she said, to verify that everyone has reviewed and understood the code.

“Make sure this policy includes important definitions and concepts, that you understand what federal and state definitions of sexual harassment and sexual assault are (and) that you then understand what the gray areas are.”

In general, she said, sexual harassment and assault involve an imbalance of power. A man, or sometimes a woman, wields power to get sexual favors. But, she noted, there are plenty of gray areas. Telling someone they look nice today isn't sexual harassment, but saying it every day could be, especially if the tone of voice has sexual overtones.

Companies, she said, should also create a mechanism for people to report problems anonymously, establish a no-retaliation policy and codify a punishment procedure.

Holder said, “It's important to let everybody know that you're not going to be retaliated against in the event that you report it as an anonymous person or that you're a victim of it.” The accused, too, should know that there will be a proper investigation “that's moving into a proper punishment procedure.”

She said, “A lot of companies, because of this sea change, don't know what to do. Having this proper punishment procedure in place will help you understand how to navigate those waters once a report has been placed.” Minor offenses, she said, might warrant warning the perpetrator that his behavior was inappropriate. Serious offenses could result in dismissal or calling in the police.

She said, “This is about awareness within your organization, what you do to prevent sexual harassment allegations within your company and how you all protect yourselves and protect your company. You're all here because you work hard and you're smart and you have something that's valuable to bring to society. It would be tragic if one of you or somebody you know or your organization that you've worked so hard to build is completely destroyed by one person or one bad act.”

National Woman's Party

The Question Producer Pin

By Harry Waterson

This is a tiny brass-plated, base-metal pin the writer had been searching for since 2012.

This three-fourths inch pin was commissioned by the National Woman's Party (NWP) in 1926. The NWP was founded in 1916 to fight for women's right to vote. It worked tirelessly for this goal and was a driving force behind the passage of the 19th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution in 1920 giving women the right to vote.

The NWP then moved seamlessly into equal rights advocacy for women. The above pin is a little emblem symbolizing the 50-50 spirit of equal rights for which the Woman's Party stood. A man and a woman shouldering the world together. The concept of equal responsibility as well as equal privilege.

Vyvyan Donner

The pin was designed by Vyvyan Donner, a founding member of the NWP, and sculpted by Julio Kilenyi. It was made by the Medallie Art Co. of New York, NY, and sold in bulk to local chapters of the NWP for resale to members and friends.

Donner (1895-1965) was a fashion designer and commentator. The same year she designed the pin she also designed the costumes, sets and posters for The Desert Song, an operetta that ran for 465 performances on Broadway. Miss Donner was then hired by Fox Movietone News and for the next 30 years she worked as writer, producer, director and on-camera personality for weekly 1-minute capsule commentaries on fashion. At their most popular, Fox newsreels played in 67 countries. Donner was known for her "vitalized silhouette" in her poster work. "I give my figures lots of vitality, life, color and movement." she said, "and nobody notices that they lack features."

Julio Kilenyi

Julio Kilenyi (1885-1959) was a Hungarian born naturalized American citizen who arrived in New York City in December, 1915 and soon developed an reputation as a talented sculptor of medals. He was commissioned to sculpt many bas-reliefs to commemorate national events and honor outstanding individuals.

The NWP pin was produced to provoke comment. One activist wrote that while ten people will ask you what the pin you are wearing means, only one of those ten would dream of questioning you without the pin as a visual prompt about your opinion on equal rights. From this concept came the title, The Question Producer Pin.

The NWP in 1964 succeeded, with the support of conservatives and over the opposition of liberals, blacks and labor unions, to have "sex" added to the Civil Rights Act of 1964, thus achieving most of the lobbying goals sought by the NWP. In 1997, the party ceased to be a lobbying organization. Instead, it turned its focus to education and to preserving its collection of source documents from the women's suffrage movement. The NWP continues to function as an educational organization and museum headquartered in the Sewall-Belmont House and Museum in Washington, D.C.

The pin pictured came from the estate of Mrs. Josephine D. Hunsinger (1914-2010). She had been a Democratic representative from Detroit serving in the Michigan state legislature from 1955 to 1976. Three pins from her estate were sold on eBay this spring by the same seller and are the first three the writer has seen other than those in the NWP collection. While many were made, few survive. The NWP is currently investigating the copyright issues that might come into play if they reissue the pin. It is hoped they do.

Harry Waterson began collecting the works of Julio Kilenyi in 2001. It took him 10 years to put together a comprehensive list of the pieces Kilenyi sculpted in the first half of the last century. He has slowly amassed a representative collection and has catalogued about 250 pieces by Kilenyi to date. The catalog is already over 1,000 pages.

Central States Numismatic Society

Sexual Harassment Guidance and Policy

Applicable to Convention Employees, Volunteers, Elected Officials, Appointed Officials, Organizational Employees

Sexual harassment is a form of sex discrimination that violates Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964.

Unwelcome sexual advances, sexually related comments, requests for sexual favors and other verbal or physical conduct of a sexual nature, whether explicit or implied, constitutes sexual harassment when submission to or rejection of this conduct explicitly or implicitly affects an individual's employment, employment conditions, compensation, promotion or promotional opportunities, prospects for career advancement, position retention, work assignment, unreasonably interferes with an individual's work performance or creates an intimidating, hostile or offensive work environment.

Sexual harassment can occur in a variety of circumstances, including, but not limited to the following:

- 1) The victim, as well as the harasser may be a man or a woman. The victim does not need to be of the opposite gender.
- 2) The harasser may be the victim's supervisor, an agent of the employer, a supervisor in another area, a co-worker, or a non-employee.
- 3) The victim does not have to be the person directly harassed, but could be anyone affected by the offensive conduct.
- 4) Unlawful sexual harassment may occur without a showing of economic injury, discharge, demotion or other adverse employment related actions being taken against the victim.
- 5) The harasser's conduct must be unwelcome.

Sexual harassment may be both direct and indirect. Examples include, but are not limited to: The requesting of or pressuring for sexual favors, unwanted gazing, leering, touching, of a sexual nature, especially where such behavior, requests or pressure might reasonably be interpreted as creating the possibility of an adverse work place outcome, including demotion, reassignment, retaliation, including retaliation for the reporting of harassment or the filing of a claim, disciplinary action, reduction in compensation, grade or work place responsibility, denial of promotion, or discharge.

It is helpful for the victim to directly inform the harasser that the conduct is unwelcome and must stop. The victim should use any employer complaint mechanism or grievance system available.

When investigating allegations of sexual harassment, the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission looks at the whole record: the circumstances, such as the nature of the sexual advances and the context in which the alleged incidents occurred. A determination on the allegations is made on a case by case basis.

Prevention is the best tool to eliminate sexual harassment in the workplace. Employers are encouraged to take steps to prevent sexual harassment from occurring and to take remedial action when it does. They should clearly communicate to employees, supervisors, management and governing officials that sexual harassment, including retaliation for the reporting of same, will not be tolerated. They should do so by establishing an effective complaint and/or reporting process and taking immediate and appropriate action when an employee complains or otherwise reports sexually harassing behavior.

FILING A CHARGE OR MAKING A REPORT

If you have been subjected to sexual harassment or been retaliated against in the work place for reporting an incident of sexual harassment, or otherwise been discriminated against in the workplace on the basis of gender, you are entitled to hiring, promotion, reinstatement, back pay and other remuneration. You may also be entitled to damages to compensate for future pecuniary losses, mental anguish and inconvenience. Punitive damages may be available, as well, if an employer acted with reckless indifference. You may also be entitled to an award of attorney's fees.

Charges of sexual harassment may be filed at any field office of the United States Equal Employment Opportunity Commission. Field offices are located in 50 cities throughout the United States and are listed in most local telephone directories under "U.S. Government". Information on all EEOC enforced laws may be obtained by calling toll free at (800) 669-EEOC. EEOC's toll free TDD number is (800) 800-3302.

Central States Numismatic Society Code of Conduct and Governing Policies for Board Members

The Central States Numismatic Society has adopted the following Code of Conduct and Governing Policies to which all Board members agree to adhere and be bound to by signing below:

1) Prohibition Against Private Inurement and Procedures for

Managing Conflicts of Interest

No member of the Board of Governors shall derive any personal profit or gain, directly or indirectly, by reason of his or her service as a Board member with the Central States Numismatic Society. This policy shall not preclude Board members from serving in paid positions on behalf of the Central States Numismatic Society and/or the Anniversary Conventions where such positions include duties that are separate and apart and in addition to their responsibility and role as a volunteer Board member, provided that the compensation for such positions shall be consistent with the previously established policies and practices of the organization. This policy shall also permit the reimbursement of out of pocket expenses to Board members undertaken in fulfillment of their responsibilities as Board members, provided that such reimbursement shall be made in accordance with and conform to policies of the Board adopted in advance. Members of the Board shall conduct their personal affairs in such a manner as to avoid any possible conflict of interest with their duties and responsibilities as members of the Board. Nevertheless, conflicts may arise from time to time.

- a) When there is a decision to be made or an action to be approved that will result in a conflict between the best interests of the Central States Numismatic Society and the Board member's personal interests, the Board member shall have a duty to immediately disclose the conflict of interest so that the balance of the Board's decision making will be informed about the conflict.
- b) It is every Board elected official's obligation, in accordance with this policy, to ensure that decisions made by the Board reflect independent thinking. Consequently, in the event that any Board member receives compensation from the Central States Numismatic Society, such compensation will be determined by and approved by the full Board in advance and shall be consistent with the previously established policies and practices of the organization.
- c) Any conflicts of interest, including, but not limited to financial interests, on the part of any elected officials, shall be disclosed to the Board when the matter that reflects a conflict of interest becomes a matter of Board action, and there shall be an annual procedure for all Board members to disclose conflicts of interest.
- d) Any Board member having a conflict of interest shall not vote or use his or her personal influence to address the matter, and he or she shall not be counted in determining the quorum for the meeting at which such a matter is discussed or determined.
- e) All conflicts disclosed to the Board will be made a matter of record in the minutes of the meeting in which the disclosure was made, which shall also note that the Board member with the conflict abstained from the vote and was not included in the count for the quorum at the meeting.
- f) Any new Board member will be advised of this policy during Board orientation and all Board members will be reminded of the Board Member Code of Conduct and Governing Policies for Board Members and the procedures for disclosure of conflicts and for managing conflicts on a regular basis, at least once per year.
- g) This policy shall also apply to any Board member's immediate household member(s) or any person acting on his or her behalf.

2) Prohibition Against Sexual, Gender Based, Gender Identity Based, Racial, Religious, Ethnic, or Affectional Orientation Based Harassment and/or Discrimination

The Central States Numismatic Society strives to maintain a workplace that is free from illegal or tortious discrimination and/or harassment. While all forms of harassment are prohibited, it is the organization's policy to emphasize and ensure that hazing, bullying, sexual, gender based, gender identity based, racial, religious, ethnic and/or affectional orientation based harassment and/or discrimination are specifically prohibited. Any Board member who engages in discriminatory or harassing conduct towards any individual, any of the groups or members of groups mentioned in this paragraph shall be subject to removal from the Board for misconduct by a simple majority vote of the Board. Complaints alleging misconduct on the part of Board members against any individual, a member of any group or orientation specified in this paragraph shall be investigated promptly and confidentially by a task force appointed by the President, which task force shall promptly report its findings to the entire Board with its recommendation for resolution. Such recommendation shall promptly be considered and voted on by the Board.

3) Confidentiality

Board members are reminded that confidential personal, financial, personnel and other matters concerning the organization, donors, employees, clients, members, and/or vendors or other service providers may be included in Board materials or discussed from time to time. Board members shall not disclose such confidential information to anyone outside the membership of the Board of Governors. Violations of this obligation of confidentiality shall be dealt with on the same complaint basis set forth in (2), supra.

4) Active Participation

Board members are expected and required to exercise and fulfill the duties and responsibilities of their positions and support all initiatives of the Central States Numismatic Society with integrity, collegiality and care. This includes:

- a) Attending all meetings of the Board, except where excused for good cause.
- b) Having read and studied all background materials and reports provided by Board committees, officers and employees prior to any Board meeting and being fully prepared to discuss the items and business on the agenda for any meetings of the Board or of the Board committees on which they serve.
- c) Cooperating with and respecting the opinions of fellow Board members, refraining from ad hominem attacks on fellow Board members during Board deliberations, leaving personal prejudices aside in all Board discussions, as well as actively supporting and actively working to implement all actions, initiatives and programs of the Board, even when the Board member personally did not support the action taken when originally adopted and approved by the Board.

- d) Putting the interests of the organization above their own personal interests, as well as above friendships, private business interests and personal loyalties that they may have or feel toward other Board members or others.
- e) Representing the organization in a positive and supportive manner at all times and in all places.
- f) Actively working as a fundraiser for the Central States Numismatic Society seeking donations and sponsorships for Board and organizational projects, activities and initiatives.
- g) Showing respect and courteous conduct toward all participants and/or attendees at Board and/or Board committee meetings.
- h) Refraining from intruding on administrative issues that are the responsibility of administrative staff and/or management, except to monitor the results and to ensure that procedures and practices are consistent with Board policy.
- i) Observing established lines of communication and directing requests for information to the President or the responsible employee or committee chair.
- j) Refraining from unjustly defaming the organization, its employees, service providers and/or fellow Board members.

79th Anniversary Convention

Mack Martin wins Best in Show with Georgia Civil War exhibit

Mack Martin won the Leon and Hamie Hendrickson Best-in-Show Award for second year in a row with his exhibit at the Central States Numismatic Society convention in Schaumburg, IL.

The exhibit, “Georgia’s Civil War Treasury History 1861-1865,” detailed the Confederate state’s issuance of treasury bonds and notes, including change bills in denominations as small as five cents between 1861 and 1865.

The exhibit included a unique 1865 $100 Treasury note that surfaced in 2001 and examples of unissued 1863 25-cent notes that were signed by conquering Union soldiers and sent home as souvenirs.

Floyd Aprill won the Jerry Lebo People's Choice Award for his display, "The United States Mint in Manila." The People's Choice Award is determined by ballots cast during the show.

This unissued Georgia 25 cent change bill was cut from a sheet by an invading Union soldier and signed as a souvenir, Martin's exhibit notes.

Dave Holladay was awarded the Joseph and Morton Stack Award for the best exhibit by a first-time CSNS exhibitor for his display, "The New Orleans Mint 1839 and Now." The John Jay Pittman Award for most-educational exhibit was awarded to Jeffrey Rosinia for "Sealing the Deal of The United States: E Pluribus Unum."

David Hunsicker won the inaugural Rothfeld Award for Best Topical Exhibit for his exhibit "Savings Banks of Milwaukee, Wisconsin."

Exhibit Chairman Jack Huggins presided over the awards while Vice President Brett Irick served as announcer in place of the late Ray Lockwood. Fran Lockwood, former exhibit chair, retained her position as chief hugger.

Irick said 50 individual exhibitors from nine states participated this year. The exhibit area had 180 cases of competitive exhibits and 10 cases of non-competitive exhibits.

Central States awarded more than eight ounces of gold coins to winners. First place winners received 1/2 ounce U.S. Gold Eagles in deluxe plastic holders.

Second-place winners received 1/4 ounce coins. Third-place winners received 1/10 ounce pieces.

Winners were:

U.S. Coins - Heritage Auctions Awards: 1st place - Dany Rothfeld, "Selected U.S. Kennedy Error Coins;" 2nd place - Floyd Aprill, "The United States Mint in Manila;" 3rd place - Jeffrey Rosinia, "The Philadelphia Story of The Franklin Half Dollar."

Foreign Coins Prior to 1500 - SEGs Awards: 1st place - Dany Rothfeld, "Portraits of the Twelve Caesars on Copper and Bronze;" 2nd place - Donald H. Dool, "A.D. Dated Copper Coins of the 15th Century."

Heritage sells 19th century hoard of No CENTS nickels

In a series of Heritage auctions awash in $100,000 coins, a simple canvas bag took center stage in the early afternoon of April 27, not for its rarity (which isn't) but for the coins that were in it and the story that went with it.

The words "New York Lead Company's highly finished DROP SHOT/ Tower & Office 63 Centre St. New York" were printed in a box on the bag. The number 3 was stamped below. The bag originally held No. 3 (0.14-inch) shot produced at New York Lead Co.'s 165-foot tall shot tower in lower Manhattan. The octagonal tower was razed in 1908 to make way for a park. The shot in the bag was replaced before the fall of 1889 with hundreds of 1883 Liberty Head No CENTS five-cent pieces. A note in the bag read "Oct. 21/89 - $14.90."

Image courtesy of Heritage Auctions

When the hoard surfaced in a small New England auction in 2009, 298 nickels were inside. However, only 297 were in the bag Heritage auctioned. A subsequent owner apparently kept one as a souvenir.

The hoard recalls a curious incident in the history of U.S. coinage. When the Liberty Head five-cent piece was introduced in early 1883 the denomination was expressed as a large "V" for five of the reverse; but it didn't say five what. Because the nickel was similar in size to the $5 gold piece, it didn't take long for hucksters to gold plate the new coins and pass them as half eagles.

The Mint quickly caught on and added the word CENTS that summer. Nonetheless rumors persisted for years that the coin would be recalled. In the mistaken belief that the coins would become rare and valuable, they were widely hoarded.

Coin World reports that St Louis collector Steve Farrell placed the winning bid of $9,600 (including buyers fee) or just over $32 per coin for the hoard. "I'm keeping it intact," he told Coin World. "The hoard should stay together. It's not something you see every day. Too often such hoards are split apart. In my opinion, it's better left untouched."

A tale of two nickels

By Tom Casper

The Liberty Head nickel series spanned 29 years, 1883 – 1912. The coin was designed by Charles E. Barber, has a composition of .750 copper, .250 nickel and weighs five grams.

There are some interesting tidbits about this series. The first nickel in this series, dated 1883 did not have the word cents on it, just a Roman numeral V. These became ripe for the hucksters to gold plate, reed the edge and pass as $5 gold coins. Alerted to the problem, the Mint changed the reverse, adding the word CENTS. The nickels from 1883 to 1911 were struck only in Philadelphia with no mint mark. In 1912, the last year of production, they were also struck in Denver, and San Francisco.

What really highlighted this series was the publicity surrounding the discovery of five 1913 Liberty Head nickels. My coin album even had a space for one, as if, I would ever find one. It was later determined that these were not struck by the U.S. Mint but by a rogue Mint employee.

In 1953 I started collecting coins - cents through half dollars. At that time, you could occasionally find Liberty Head nickels in circulation. Like the other coin series, I purchased a coin album for these nickels. Over the next few years I was able to fill all the holes in the album from circulation except for the 1885 and 1886. I found out that the 1885 nickel was the key piece in the series, with the 1886 piece being the second-rarest due to their low mintage. In 1885 they struck only 1,472,700 and for 1886 they struck 3,326,000. I couldn't afford to buy either piece so the holes remained empty until very recently.

During my teen years I stepped away from the hobby. On returning, I switch from collecting coins to collecting exnumia. And this is where I found my missing nickels.

Recently I obtained an elongated 1885 nickel rolled at the World's Columbian Exposition, held in Chicago in 1892-93. Elongates were first produced at this fair. Cents, nickels and dimes were most commonly used, although all denominations were rolled. Coins rolled at the exposition came from circulation and this rarity was hidden among them. During this time period there were very few coin collectors and limited references indicating which coins were rare.

My 1886 Liberty Head nickel appeared, but as a love token. It is engraved on the reverse with the name Oscar. Love tokens were a popular fad in the U.S. between 1880 and 1900. Skilled engravers would smooth down one side of a coin and engrave initials, names or scenes on that side. Women usually wore these as jewelry. Mostly Seated Liberty dimes and Seated Liberty quarters were used but love tokens can be found on all denominations of U.S. and foreign coins.

So, after all these years I finally found my two missing nickels to complete my date set, although they are slightly altered. A purist would consider these pieces damaged but as a token collector I can appreciate the rarity of the coins as well as what was rolled or engraved on them.

Oscar's love token is dated 1886, another key to the Liberty Head 5-cent piece series.

CSNS gives $2,167 to ICTA

The Central States Numismatic Society renewed its commitment to the Industry Council for Tangible Assets by giving $2,167 - $1 for each member - to the group at the 79th Anniversary Convention.

ICTA officials gave a presentation at the convention, and Beth Deisher, ICTA's director of anti-counterfeiting, also addressed the Chicago Coin Club about her group's efforts.

CSNS President Mitch Ernst said, "As the leading hobby organization in the midwest, Central States feels a deep responsibility to the collector community to support ICTA in its fight to remove burdensome sales taxes on numismatic and bullion items, combat counterfeiting and educate the public."

ICTA Chief Operating Officer David Crenshaw said that as a result of ICTA's work and local lobbying efforts Alabama was set to exempt precious metals and United States coins and paper money from the state's sales tax.

With Alabama, he said, 37 states now do not charge sales taxes on bullion and numismatic material. He said ICTA hopes to add Tennessee to the list next year after three years of work. "We hope to get this across the finish line in the next (legislative) session," he said.

ICTA Executive Director Kathy McFadden said Kansas is in play, too.

She said, "Hopefully we can get Kansas. I've already had a couple people call and ask if we can get their state next year."

YNs find numismatic treasure on convention's bourse floor

By David Heinrich
CSNS governor

We had nearly 30 Young Numismatists hunt for “treasure” on the bourse floor this year. The annual Treasure Hunt is the most popular attraction at the YN booth and draws both current young collectors and those who are just beginning to discover their interest in numismatics.

When the treasure hunt begins, each YN receives a goody bag of various numismatic items and a three-ring binder with pages for 2x2s. There are alternating open slots and slots containing descriptions of selected coins. At each of the thirteen Treasure Hunt stops that the YN must find on the bourse floor, they must answer a multiple-choice question to receive a prize. The prize, contained in a 2x2 corresponds to one of the descriptions in the binder and can be inserted into the empty slot next to it.

Two of the prizes this year were an East German pfennig and a Kyrgyzstan 10 tiyin. We had several YNs this year that returned with their binder from last year to add more pages.

After the YN completes the Treasure Hunt by finding all thirteen stops, he or she receives a Red Book courtesy of Whitman Publishing - Mary Burleson and a numbered ticket. Later, numbers are drawn and the YN with the number called is allowed to pick any item that he likes from the four cases of donations from dealers and collectors.

The items range in value from a couple of dollars to $100. This year, one of our returning YNs brought with him his Dansco Type Collection Album that he began to fill with the 1829 Capped Bust Half Dollar that he won as his treasure hunt prize in 2013.

The YNs can also participate in the other activities including; the 1982 Cent Challenge, the Nickel Grading Challenge, Fill a Cent Folder and the World Coin Challenge, the latter being the most popular. Along with numismatic themed drawing and coloring for the very young.

For the World Coin Challenge, interested YNs select a foreign coin from the hundreds in the plastic tub. They must enclose it in a 2x2, identify the coin by country, date, denomination and KM number and label it. Then it is their's to keep, and they can repeat the process as many times as they like. Multiple copies of different century Krause catalogs are available at the tables as are various sizes of 2x2s, flat staplers and magnifying glasses.

Some young collectors (with their parent having just as much fun) happily spend hours doing this and leave with dozens of coins to add to their collection or start a new one. There is room in their binder from the Treasure Hunt to store these foreign treasures. If anyone is interested in trying this on their own, we did this activity at a meeting of our local coin club and it was enjoyed by YNs and adults alike.

We also have a Boy Scout Merit Badge Clinic at the convention conducted by Chicago Coin Club member John Riley. The Scouts sign up for the clinic at the show. If they complete all of the requirements for the coin collecting merit badge at the clinic their efforts are checked by a certified counselor and they receive their badge. The Scouts can then participate in the Treasure Hunt and the other activities at the YN booth.

None of this would be possible without the generous support of the numerous dealers and collectors who donated coins and other items or gave financial support or were stops on the Treasure Hunt. I also am deeply grateful for the tireless efforts of my wife Heidi, CSNS Governor Brad Karoleff and Stephen and Lexa Petty and for the assistance of Jeff Rosinia and YN Isaiah Hageman. These programs would be impossible without their help.

YNs filled their binders with coins they were given at Treasure Hunt stations on the bourse floor.

Thank you CSNS

On behalf of American Numismatic Association, we want to thank the Central States Numismatic Society for providing a table for the American Numismatic Association at your 79th Anniversary Convention. We were able to sign up or renew 21 members for the Association. A special thanks to dealer John Markis of Trusted Traditions, located in Lauderdale by the Sea, FL, for donating $100 for the shipment of the coin show kit.

The convention had 812 registered bourse dealers at 296 booths. These figures don't include the young numismatist area, coin club or different nonprofit tables that were set-up. One-hundred twenty-nine Early Birds registered for the event.

Ray Dillard had his elongated rolling machine and made up a special elongate for the convention. The three-day registered attendance was 2,406. The majority of dealers appeared to be busy for most of the show.

The exhibits were once again fantastic with 35 top-notch exhibitors vying for the gold coin awards with 50 competitive exhibits. CSNS set up 180 exhibits cases

Security for the event was great, and we heard of no incidents during the run of the convention. The official program was also well done, and everyone who attended received a very nice cloth bag which was donated by Kedzie Koins Inc., located in Chicago, IL.

A YN Treasure Hunt was held on Saturday and dozens of young collectors stopped at numerous designated tables to answer a question and received a free coin. A Boy Scout coin collecting merit badge clinic was held on Saturday. Numerous educational programs were held by CSNS. Several of the coin clubs also had educational programs.

An excellent awards breakfast was held on Saturday morning. Besides the exhibit awards CSNS had several other awards they presented. A new Board was also installed, and Mitch Ernst took over as president of the CSNS.

Thanks again for the ANA table. We look forward to next year's 80th CSNS convention.

ANS President Gary Adkins, center, holds a 50th wedding anniversary medal that John and Nancy Wilson commissioned.

Yours in Numismatics,
John and Nancy Wilson,
ANA National Volunteers

A numismatic golden wedding anniversary celebration

Nancy Wilson will forever hug her husband John on the front of a medal the pair commissioned to celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary.

The Wilsons, known at coin shows across the country for their work as ANA national volunteers and exhibitors, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary Friday, April 27, at the Central States convention.

John and Nancy, who call themselves Mr. & Mrs. Claus on their business cards, have an award-winning exhibit of notes depicting Santa Claus.

Nancy, who started collecting coins as a 7-year-old girl, said John was not a coin collector when they met. "Once we got married, I guess he had no choice," she said.

The medal, designed by former U.S. Mint Sculptor/Engraver Thomas D. Rogers, shows Nancy hugging John on the obverse and the wording NANCY J. "OPITZ" WILSON & JOHN W. WILSON. Along the bottom rim, the dates April 27, 1968, and April 27, 2018, are separated by a heart.

The back shows Rogers' imagining of a Santa Claus bank note issued by the Bank of Health, Happiness and Prosperity. The denomination 50 appears amid holly leaves at each corner, and a seal on the left side declares, 50 YEARS OF LOVE AND NUMISMATICS. The phrase IN SANTA WE TRUST appears below the central vignette of Santa.

John is especially pleased that Rogers placed his signature on the Santa bill where a bank official's name would appear on a real bill. Rogers' TDR initials also appear on the front, just as they do on several United States coins.

BEX Engraving of Fullerton, CA, struck 500 medals in brass. John said he plans to have an additional 50 struck in silver and one in gold.

NATIONAL SILVER DOLLAR ROUNDTABLE

Founded November 12, 1982

THE SILVER DOLLAR SPECIALISTS. We are proud to list the following Silver Dollar dealers as members in good standing with the National Silver Dollar Roundtable. Each has a reputation throughout the numismatic industry for honesty, integrity and knowledge of silver dollars.

N.S.D.R. serves the Silver Dollar collector

ONE OF THE NATION'S LARGEST NUMISMATIC DEALER ORGANIZATIONS

The National Silver Dollar Roundtable, a non-profit educational organization, invites and welcomes to membership all worthy persons eighteen years of age and older.

The National Silver Dollar Roundtable is dedicated to promoting United States silver dollars. The objective of the organization is to advance the knowledge of numismatics, especially for U.S. silver dollars, along educational, historical and scientific lines. NSDR assists in bringing about cooperation among all persons interested in collecting, buying, selling, grading, exhibiting and preserving U.S. silver dollars, through educational forums, social meetings, written articles, newsletters and other publications of interest. Our educational programs have, through the years, featured the most respected names in numismatics.

CSNS scholarship winner

Summer Seminar renews teacher's interest in using ancient coins in classes

By Kelly Kusch

Covington (KY) Latin School

I am not your typical coin collector, if there is such a thing. I am a Latin and Greek teacher. About 10 years or so ago I started doing a coin project with my students through the Ancient Coins for Education program. My students enjoyed it, and were challenged by it. Attributing an ancient coin was very different from translating Vergil or Cicero. And, they got to keep the coin!

Kelly Kusch uses ancient coins as a teaching aid in her classes.

Through ACE, I have amassed a collection of ancient coins. I still didn't feel like I really knew what I was doing though. I had heard about the ANA Summer Seminar years earlier from a fellow teacher. I had read about it in The Numismatist and The Centinel, the journal of the Central States Numismatic Society. This year, though, seemed to be a year when I thought I could attend. The seminar on Roman Imperial coins sounded perfect for me! I applied early for the CSNS scholarship and was thrilled when I found out that I had received it.

When I first arrived in Colorado Springs, it was nearing sunset, and the air was cool and crisp. No humidity! After flight delays in Las Vegas due to the extreme heat, it was quite a relief. As we headed to Colorado College, my Uber driver pointed out Pike's Peak—there was snow on it! This was my first time in Colorado; everything looked and smelled different from what I had left in Cincinnati.

I checked in, found my dorm room (right across from the 7-11) and settled in. Because of my flight delays, I had missed the opening dinner. I could get snacks across the street, but I decided to stretch my legs a bit, walk around and explore. I found a nice little tavern with food and drink specials that was perfect for dinner. Outside it was quiet and cool and getting dark, but inside, the dining room was warm, bright, and full of people enjoying Sunday evening.

Monday morning I was up early, very early since I was still on East Coast time. I was excited to get to the first seminar, but had plenty of time to walk again. I went farther this time, all the way downtown, since it was light already, and there were a few other early birds out walking. I'm glad I had my fleece and gloves with me though!

At breakfast, I met some folks who have attended the ANA Summer Seminar multiple times. Wow! At our first session on Roman coins, we participants introduced ourselves. We were a small group, from all over the country. Our instructors, Kerry Wetterstrom and Mike Gasvoda, are extremely knowledgeable about ancient coins. Mike had recently sold his collection of ancient coins and gave all of us a copy of the catalog. Kerry has a long history of outstanding work in numismatics and now works for Classical Numismatic Group.

Through our morning and afternoon classes over the next few days, Mike and Kerry led us through the history of the Roman emperors and their coins. I learned that I needed safe flips for all my coins, which I was easily able to purchase at the gift shop. Replacing all my flips when I returned home enabled me to browse through all my coins, and think about how and where I could use individual pieces in my classroom.

The Summer Seminar is more than just classes. I enjoyed touring the Money Museum. The Young Numismatist Auction was eye-opening. It was fun to explore campus and downtown Colorado Springs. Getting to know others at lunches and dinners, I learned about so many other aspects of numismatics. Wednesday's concluding reception and banquet was very nice. My husband has clients in Denver, so he timed his visits with them to enable him to attend. I was glad to introduce him to the many friends I made during the session. Many of us from the Ancient Coin Seminar sat together and we were thrilled when our very own instructor, Kerry Wetterstrom, won an award.

While I still don't feel like a collector, I certainly know more than I did. I was glad to realize that I knew more than I thought! I have always been intrigued by coins. My great uncle was a collector. Growing up in Chicago, he always slipped me a silver dollar or a couple half dollars. I was excited when Bicentennial quarters came out, and Susan B. Anthonys, and $2 bills. I still hoard these when I come across them. My own children collected the state quarters.

A Covington Latin School student gives a presentation on ancient Roman coins.

I came back to Cincinnati with a renewed interest in using the coins in my collection in more and different ways in my classes. When my Latin I students read about the Arch of Titus in the Roman Forum, I can pull out a coin with Titus on it. When my Latin II students look at hairstyles and we discuss the importance of Roman Imperial portraiture, out comes Julia Domna! When my Greek students read the New Testament passage about the widow's mite, I have a few of those to show the students. These are the things that bring ancient literature to life. My students can hold a piece of history. They love it!

I owe tremendous thanks to the Central States Numismatic Society for helping fund my trip to the Summer Seminar. I also must thank Ancient Coins for Education for starting it all for me—providing coins and assistance when needed, sponsoring student contests where they and I could win coins. In the beginning, ACE also connected me with some Cincinnati-area numismatists who have a special fondness for ancient coins. I was pleased to reconnect with them after the Summer Seminar.

For young numismatists, for beginner hobbyists, for veteran collectors, ANA's Summer Seminar has something for everyone. I highly recommend it!

CSNS SCHOLARSHIP PROGRAM — SUMMER 2019 —

The President and Board of Governors of the Central States Numismatic Society are pleased to announce the availability of Adult and Young Numismatist Scholarships for Society members to attend the Summer Seminar educational program of the American Numismatic Association in Colorado Springs, Colorado.

The Summer Seminar is a week-long series of educational lectures and classes held each year at ANA headquarters on the campus of Colorado College. Award includes tuition, room (double-occupancy rate) and board, as well as coach-class airfare from the airport nearest the awardee's place of legal residence or at the current federal mileage rate per mile by car, whichever is less. Maximum value of the award is $1,400. An adult awardee must be a CSNS member for a minimum of three (3) years; a YN awardee, one (1) year. Previous winners are not eligible.

Applicants may use the official form or apply by letter and will be judged primarily on the basis of past contributions to organized numismatics. Examples of activities considered to enhance an application include service as a local, regional or national numismatic organization officer; publication of numismatically related articles; a history of exhibiting at coin shows and other numismatic exhibitions; as well as service on the staff of local, regional or national coin shows or numismatic conventions within the CSNS thirteen-state area.

Applications must be submitted prior to August 1, 2018.

South Shore Coin Club, Milwaukee Numismatic Society

Successful show attracts 650 collectors, 41 Scouts

By John and Nancy Wilson
ANA National Volunteers

The South Shore Coin Club hosted its 54th Annual Coin Show April 11 – 12 at Crowne Plaza Milwaukee Airport. This is the largest coin show in Wisconsin.

The show featured 41 dealers at the 100 tables that were set up. This figure includes exhibits and club tables. Though the weather was rainy, attendance for the two-day show was 650. On opening day so many people were waiting to get in that organizers let them in 10 minutes early. The show had a $2 admission charge and the first 50 veterans who attended each day were admitted free. U.S. Collectors Advocates sponsored the free veterans admission. Hard-working members of the SSCC handled the registration, sold raffle tickets and gave out special wooden nickels that were made for the show. Free literature was also available. The popular hourly door prize drawing was also held.

The competitive exhibits were handled by Darrell Luedtke. Luedtke, past president of the International Organization of Wooden Money Collectors, also handled show advertising and was in charge of getting the wooden nickels. The Crown Plaza is an excellent location for a coin show with its free airport shuttle and parking, a well-lit and carpeted convention hall, a nice restaurant and easy access to the Interstate. Security was excellent. The dealers we talked to said they had a good show.

The Milwaukee Numismatic Society held its 37th Annual Boy Scout Coin Collecting Merit Badge Clinic in conjunction with the South Shore show. The Saturday clinic was chaired by Leon Saryan, who was assisted by Bruce Benoit. Speakers for the clinic included Saryan, Benoit, Roger Lick and Dave Hunsicker. Several other Milwaukee Numismatic Society members assisted with the testing and other parts of the clinic. MNS President Justin Perault ran the PowerPoint presentation.

The MNS clinic was started in 1981 by Lee Hartz and Tom Casper. Several national organizations have adopted the MNS Boy Scout Coin Collecting Merit Badge Clinic. The 41 Scouts who registered for the clinic passed all requirements and received their merit badges. After the clinic, Benoit took the Scouts, their leaders and family members on a tour of the bourse and exhibit area. Some Scouts joined the ANA after the clinic ended.

The South Shore Coin Club provided the American Numismatic Association with a free club table. We signed up 10 new or renewing members. Paragon Numismatics dealer and CSNS Gov. Andrew Kimmel donated $100 to cover shipment of the ANA coin show kit.

Next year's show will be held at same location April 12 - 13.

The Token Catalog - tokencatalog.com - recently topped more than 11,000 South Dakota listings. The South Dakota Coin and Stamp Association newsletter notes, "There are some very dedicated collectors who specialize in South Dakota tokens." However, the newsletter reports, few business are still issuing metal tokens and have gravitated toward "good-for" scrip.

Chicago Coin Club

New book lists more than a century of medals, tokens in story format

The venerable Chicago Coin Club is gearing up for its centennial celebration with the publication of a large-format, hardcover book cataloging every medal, token and associated ephemera issued by the club since its founding in 1919.

Chicago Coin Co. President William Burd, a Chicago Coin Club member since 1993 and an avid collector of its artifacts, wrote the 108-page volume. The book begins with medals issued by club's predecessor, the Chicago Numismatic Society, in 1907 and ends with several appendixes covering the club's award medals, souvenir sheets and publications.

The information is presented in a story format rather than a list of technical information in catalog format. However nothing is left out. In addition to why and how each piece was created, the mintage, composition, weight and original cost is included. More than 150 high-quality, color images of medals, tokens and ephemera accompany the text.

Over the years, the club's issues have included an 1893 Columbian commemorative half dollar counterstamped in 1933, brass Christmas ornaments in 2002 and encased postage stamps in 2009.

The 8.5 x 11-inch book is available for $30 from Chicago Coin Co., 6455 W. Archer Ave., Chicago, IL 60638.

Cincinnati Numismatic Association

Club sells personalized Red Books

The Cincinnati Numismatic Association is once again selling personalized Red Books as a fundraiser.

The association affixes a special bookplate personalized with the buyer's name and a gold foil Cincinnati Numismatic Association seal just inside the front cover of each book.

The books are available for $15 plus $3 postage from the Cincinnati Numismatic Association, Box 446, Miamitown, OH 45041

Huron Valley Numismatic Society

Club marks Coin Week with exhibits

The Huron Valley Numismatic Society, which meets in Highland, MI, celebrated the 2018 American Numismatic Association's National Coin Week (April 15 - 21) with exhibits at the Milford Public Library in Milford, MI, and the Cromaine Regional Library in Hartland, MI. Both exhibits followed this year's NCW theme "Connecting Cultures: From Many, One" by showcasing the role of numismatics in building bridges and promoting unity and reconciliation.

A small exhibit at the Milford Public Library created by Al Raddi featured the Peace Dollar – a silver coin with a design symbolic of the peace that followed World War I. And larger exhibit at the Cromaine Regional Library created by Mark Johnson featured the Peace Dollar as well as the euro – the common currency of the European Union currently used by 19 of its 28 members. Both displays also included a representative sample of numismatic books and magazines. -Huron Valley Numismatic Society

North Central Arkansas Coin Club

Coin dealers to set up at stamp show

The North Central Arkansas Coin Club, citing a lack of time and expense, has decided to hold off on its annual coin show for a few years. The show, which started in 2000, attracted 16 dealers last summer to Mountain Home, AR, at the northern edge of the state.

Stepping up, the Mountain Home Area Stamp Club has added coins to its annual stamp show, now in its 41st year.

Chris Carter, who had been the coin show's contact in previous years, said three area coin dealers plan to set up at the Sept. 7-8 Stamp & Coin Show at the Mountain Home Ramada Inn, which had also hosted the coin club's show.

The combined show will be open 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Friday and 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Sunday. Admission is free.

Bill Burdick of the stamp club said, "Our show is not for money. It's to support the hobby to folks that may have never had the enjoyment of being a stamp or coin collector."

Bridge City Coin and Stamp Club

Community celebrates National Coin Week

The Bridge City Coin and Stamp Club of Mobridge, SD had another successful National Coin Week. The kindergarden through fifth grade students submitted 224 coin designs on how they would show people getting to understand one another, whether in the classroom, neighborhood or by nations.

Librarian Karla Bieber made up all the contest forms and made copies for the students. Every entry received a foreign coin. First, second and third place prizes for each grade were donated by members. Stan Mack put all the foreign coins into 2x2 holders. The judges for the design contest were Marilyn Anderson, Lyle Walth and Barb Zerr.

Exhibits were again placed in the three banks, Chamber of Commerce office and the A.H. Brown Public Library. Each of these locations expressed their appreciation and welcomed the club to exhibit again next year.

The club provided numismatic related questions during National Coin Week for the daily Dairy Queen trivia contest on KOLY, 1300 AM. The club also provided additional prizes. The club is also donating additional books to the A.H. Brown Public Library. The library now has 57 numismatic book titles on the shelves, with more to come. - Robert Maisch, Club NCW Chairman

Exonumia Challenge

Oregon, Ohio, medal celebrates evolution from swampland to city

By YN Isaiah Hageman

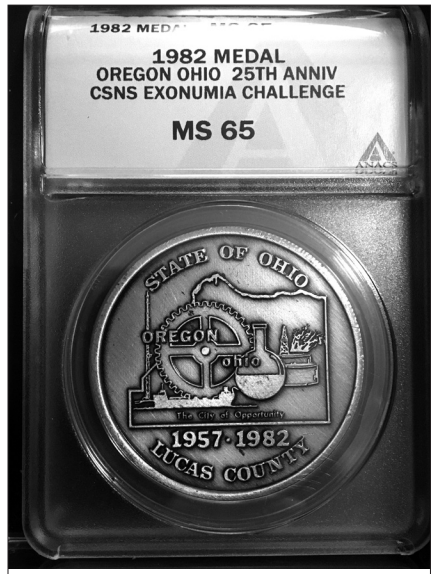

I recently took up the CSNS Exonumia Challenge given by the late Ray Lockwood. The challenge consisted of the following: contact Mr. Lockwood, and he will give you a token or medal, free of charge. You are then instructed to research the piece, and write an article for publication on the medal or token.

The medal that I received is an antiqued finish bronze medal that commemorates the 25th anniversary of Oregon, Ohio. On the obverse (I am not exactly sure which side is the obverse) is an outline of the state of Ohio, a gear, a ship and the words STATE OF OHIO / LUCAS COUNTY / 1957-1982. There are also a few other things on the obverse that I cannot make out.

On the reverse a big numeral 25 is the center surrounded by the words (from 12 o'clock, counterclockwise) OREGON / SWAMPLAND - TO SETTLERS - TO SUCCESS. Below the 25 are the dates, 1957-1982.

I also took the liberty of having the medal encapsulated by ANACS, since I was allowed to keep the medal. ANACS (American Numismatic Association Certification Service) graded this medal MS 65 (Mint State 65). I personally believe that this medal is at least a MS 66, and several dealers that were consulted agreed that this is undergraded. If you go to www.anacs.com, this medal will come up in their cert verification page. The serial number of the holder is 5233859, in case any of you want to verify it. The population report is not given, but I assume that this medal is a pop 1, considering that I have never seen a medal like this one before. Upon searching eBay for other medals of this type, certified or uncertified, I found that none were available for purchase at the time of research.

Several friends of mine who viewed this medal commented that the medal may have been cleaned at some point. I do not think that the medal has been cleaned. It has an antiqued finish, which may produce a “cleaned” look, especially on a bronze coin/medal.

Oregon, Ohio, is in Lucas County. The city was originally part of a swamp called the Great Black Swamp. Since the swamp was filled with various varieties of trees, including oak, hickory and ash, sawmills were set up to process all of the lumber. Settlements were also started near the sawmills. Roadways were constructed from the Indian trails that crossed the swamp. Ditches were also constructed to drain stormwater from the swamp, and they continue to drain water into the Maumee Bay today.

The city of Oregon was named by Pierre M. Irving. Pierre was a nephew of Washington Irving, the author of numerous books including Astoria. The book is about John Jacob Astor’s fur trading in Oregon Territory. Since Pierre was representing Astor’s fur trading in lands east of Maumee River, he named the city Oregon.

In 1838, Oregon Township was formed. The land was surveyed, and the township sold land for settlers. The township is now the city of Oregon. Their boundaries are the city of Toledo (west), Lake Erie (north), Jerusalem Township (east), and the city of Northwood (south). There are two cemeteries owned by the city, and they have owned them since 1856.

A rail system was developed in the late 1800s to early 1900s. British Petroleum (BP) and Sun Marketing (two oil refineries) opened in the early 1900s in Oregon. They have been two of the largest employers of the city throughout the city’s history.

Pierre M. Irving

The northwestern part of the city became an industrial center. A coal-powered electrical generating plant and several chemical plants were started there. Buckeye Pipeline is the largest pipeline distribution system in the city. Urban growth went eastward, starting around Interstate 280. I-280 was one of the nation’s first interstates.

In 1954, the township was zoned. The city of Toledo tried to annex the northwest area of the township in 1954, as well. Then annexation failed. In 1957, the township took a vote to become a city. The vote ended with 3,660 in favor, and 2,925 opposing. The city's charter was adopted in 1958.

Oregon is Lucas County's largest suburb. It has a population of approximately 20,000 in about 28 square miles. The city is located in the Toledo metropolitan area. Local temperatures are about 73 degrees in the summer and 25 degrees in the winter on average.

Exonumia challenge

Get a free medal, write an article

The Exonumia Challenge, which was started several years by the late Ray Lockwood and medal specialist Bob Fritsch, will continue, but with one change - the point of contact will be Centinel Editor Gerald Tebben.

The challenge, patterned after a similar program Fritsch pioneered with the California Exonumist Society promises to be fun and perhaps profitable.

Here's how the CES described the challenge:

Every medal has a story to tell. By their very nature, medals are created to mark an event, person, group, commemoration or be just beautiful art. Coins were made to be spent, but medals are where the author can find a universe of excellent subjects for writing.

That is the purpose of this challenge. The rules are simple.

Fritsch has given Tebben a box of medals - extras from auction lots he has purchased. Contact Tebben to look through the box or ask him to pick a medal (or grouping of items like telephone tokens) for you. In return, write an article of about one page about the medal.

The article is to be submitted to The Centinel for publication. Both Fritsch and Tebben will be happy to assist novice authors.

Questions may be directed to Tebben at gtebben@columbus.rr.com.

UNDERSTANDING ANCIENTS

TETRARCHY: CALM BEFORE CHAOS

Bust of Diocletian on display at the Istanbul Archaeological Museum

By the time Diocletian was hailed emperor late in A.D. 284, the Roman Empire had been in a steady decline for more than a century, having nearly collapsed in the 260s. Diocletian (A.D. 284 to 305) was more than just a general or an emperor, he was a social visionary who tried to remedy all of Rome's ills.

To this end, he introduced a wide range of draconian measures that may have sounded good in theory, but which ended up failing under their own weight. One such policy was his willingness to share power with not just one – but three other people.

It began in the summer of 285, when Diocletian elevated one of his commanders, Maximian, to the rank of Caesar, making him second in command. Less than a year later, he granted Maximian the title of Augustus (286 to 305).

Several years later, in 293, the size of the Imperial roster was doubled again when Diocletian chose Galerius as his Caesar (293 to 305) and Maximian did the same with Constantius I 'Chlorus' (293 to 305). Now, the Empire was ruled by four men – two Augusti and two Caesars – in an arrangement known as the "tetrarchy".

Though Diocletian shared power, he always held the highest rank as senior emperor, and he reserved exclusively for himself the power to create laws.

Having four rulers made the military threats to the empire easier to manage, yet it greatly increased bureaucracy and tax burdens. This caused economic stress and spiraling inflation.

Coinage was one area of about a century that the Romans had produced high-purity silver coins, and it was a novelty doomed for failure in an inflationary environment. Argentii were hoarded or were exported in trade, but rarely circulated in the empire for long.

Perhaps the most remarkable act of Diocletian was his last: voluntary retirement – better known as abdication. When Diocletian did this in 305, he insisted that his co-emperor Maximian do the same to allow Galerius and Constantius I to become emperors and appoint Caesars of their own.

Billon nummus of Constantius I “Chlorus” struck at Siscia, A.D. 301. This piece has most of its original ‘silvered’ coating intact; the reverse shows Moneta standing.

Much like Diocletian’s other utopian plans, this one also failed, for without Diocletian’s guiding hand the Roman world rapidly spun into disarray, with multiple civil wars erupting over the next two decades. It was not until late in 324 that Constantine I “the Great” (307 to 337) restored order when he triumphed in a civil war and assumed sole control of the empire.

Spring Board Meeting Minutes

August 28, 2017 – Schaumburg, IL

President Karen Jach called the meeting to order at 6:30 PM.

President Jach announced the appointment of Gov. Greg Oglesby as Sergeant at Arms and stated that she believed that the meeting should be of two hours duration.

President Jach thanked Gov. Hawks for his personal outreach and thanks given to Convention Sponsors at the current convention.

President Jach introduced Kathy McFadden and Beth Deisher, representing the Industry Council for Tangible Assets. Ms. McFadden thanked CSNS for its financial donations and general support of ICTA programs. She also extended her thanks to the Bourse Chairman and Convention Chairman for the role they play in facilitating ICTA's involvement in the convention. Ms. McFadden also gave a detailed overview of the legislative and regulatory response activities that ICTA has been and will continue to be involved in on behalf of the numismatic community.

Ms. Deisher spoke briefly in her role as the director of ICTA's anti-counterfeiting taskforce. She gave a general overview of the importance of this new initiative, including a summary of the numismatic, governmental and non-governmental organizations the anti-counterfeiting taskforce would be working in conjunction with. Ms. Deisher noted that the first organizational and training session of this ITCA taskforce was held here at the CSNS convention on 4/26/17.

The Secretary called the roll:

Present: President Karen A. Jach, Immediate Past President Bruce Perdue, Legal Counsel Steven Bieda, Convention Chairman Kevin Foley, Secretary / Bourse Chairman Patricia Foley, Gov./Treasurer/Exhibit Chairman/Chief Judge Brett Irick, Gov./Deputy Chief Judge Jack D. Huggins, Jr., Gov./Education Director Ray Lockwood, Govs. Francis C. Hawks, David G. Heinrich, James S. Moores, Mike Curran, Bradley Karoleff, Andrew Kimmel, Larry Schneider, Gregory Oglesby and Editor Gerald Tebben.

The Secretary presented minutes of the Oct. 1, 2016, board meetings for approval by the Board.

Motion by Gov. Irick to approve the Oct. 1, 2016, minutes as submitted by the Secretary. Motion seconded by Immediate Past President Perdue. On a voice vote, all voted yes. No abstentions. Motion approved unanimously.

President's Report:

President Jach indicated that she had nothing to add to her opening statement.

Secretary's Report:

The Secretary indicated to the Board that her Report had been submitted electronically to all prior to the meeting and was included in printed form in the Board Book provided to all. Motion by Gov. Irick to accept the Secretary's Report as submitted. Motion seconded by Gov. Heinrich. On a voice vote, all voted yes. No abstentions. Motion approved unanimously.

Gov. Moores inquired relative to the number of current CSNS members. The Secretary indicated that the figure is about 2,600, but cautioned that this includes at least several hundred who were not current on their dues, but that she had nevertheless carried, because of previously disclosed discrepancies in the membership records furnished to her. The Secretary indicated that the membership roles would be purged after the current 2017 convention to remove those who were not now current on their dues.

Convention Chairman's / Bourse Chairman's Report:

The Convention Chairman reported that the Early Bird fee for 2017 was increased to $125, versus the 2016 fee of $100. In addition, all badge additions to an application made after April 1 were assessed the $125 fee, rather than the $75 extra badge fee. The Convention Chairman explained that almost all badge additions after April 1 are non-employees of the booth holder, and that this measure would likely add $2,500 - $3,500 in revenue. The Convention Chairman also reported that in 2017 booth holders who were also Convention Sponsors were admitted at 8 AM, rather than at 9 AM on the opening day of the bourse. He further reported that approximately $33,700 in cash sponsorship donations had been received to date.

The Convention Chairman updated the Board on the status of hotel room pick-up issues. He indicated that lack of support for the room block by educational exhibitors continues to have the realistic potential of creating financial liability for the organization, pointing out that the educational exhibitors produced 21 hotel room nights in 2016, and thus far in 2017, had reservations for 48 room nights. He advised the Board that we are obligated this year to produce 1,428 hotel room nights or are required to make up for any shortfall, and, in addition the Convention Center rental fee can be adjusted upward.

Auction Award: Convention Chairman reported that our current auction company, Heritage, was the winning bidder for 2018, with a $100,000 auction rights fee, and had also paid $2,500 each for options at that same level for 2019 and 2020. Heritage has, in fact, exercised those options.

Exhibit and Award's Committee Report:

Committee Chairman Francis Hawks reported that Steven Bieda is the winner of the first place Bradfield-Finner Literary Award. James Zylstra is the second place award winner. Isaiah Hageman is the winner of the Daniel Parker Young Numismatist Literary Award.

Exhibit Chairman Huggins noted that for 2018 there will be a newly created award, "Best Topical Exhibit." The award is being sponsored by Dany Rothfeld.

Medal of Merit: The recommended selectees for the 2017 Medal of Merit are Mack Martin and Robert Fritsch. Motion by Immediate Past President Perdue to accept the Committee recommendation. Seconded by Gov. Curran. All voted “yes.” No abstentions. Motion carried unanimously.

Editor’s Report: Editor Tebben reported that after exploring the possibility of utilizing a different printer, he has made the decision to continue with SpectraPrint. He indicated that they will be reducing their overall bill by roughly $1,000. The Editor continued with general remarks about Centinel editorial content and articles.

YN Committee Report: Gov. Heinrich reported that the Boy Scout Merit badge clinic has been canceled, but that this event would be scheduled as part of the Convention for 2018.

Finance Committee Report: Treasurer Jack Huggins presented his budget for the next fiscal year. Motion by Gov. Irick to accept budget as submitted. Seconded by Gov. Curran. The motion was adopted on the following roll call vote:

No: Moores, Perdue

Yes: Karoleff, Curran, Oglesby, Hawks, Lockwood, Irick, Schneider, Kimmel, Heinrich.

Abstains: Huggins

Motion carries 9-2, 1 abstention.

Treasurer Huggins made an offer to the Board to prepare the annual CSNS tax return for an additional fee of $500. He indicated that this would save roughly $2,000 per year versus the fee charged by the current tax preparation firm. He further indicated that these savings could be applied to the fee to have an outside accounting firm conduct an audit of our books roughly every four years.

Motion by Past President Perdue to accept Huggins’ offer to prepare annual tax return for a fee of $500, with roughly $2,000 savings held in escrow to later be applied to fee for outside audit roughly every four years. Seconded by Gov. Lockwood.

Abstains: Moores, Huggins

Yes: Perdue, Curran, Karoleff, Schneider, Oglesby, Hawks, Lockwood, Irick, Kimmel, Heinrich.

Motion carries 11-0, 2 abstentions.

Gov. Irick reminded the Board that Huggins will also be compensated an additional $500 over and above his salary to be the CSNS treasurer for counting the election ballots. Treasurer Huggins reaffirmed to the Board that he will resign from his position as an elected Governor when the Secretary mails the ballots for the upcoming election.

Treasurer’s Report: Treasurer Huggins pointed out that he had previously submitted his report to the Board via e-mail.

Education Committee Report: Gov. Lockwood gave an overview of the educational programs that he administers on behalf of CSNS. The Secretary had previously e-mailed Education Director Lockwood’s report to the Board.

Motion by Gov. Irick to accept the Education Director's report. Seconded by Gov. Kimmel. On a voice vote, all vote in favor. No abstentions. Motion carries unanimously.

Webmaster/Technology Report: Webmaster Perdue gave a general update to the Board concerning design and content changes to the CSNS website.

A general discussion was held concerning the promotional opportunities inherent in our Facebook page. Webmaster Perdue stated that he would take the appropriate steps to designate the Bourse Chairman as a Facebook page administrator. A lengthy discussion ensued, concerning other officials being able to post on behalf of CSNS on the CSNS Facebook page. After additional comments, Motion by Gov. Irick to close the discussion. Seconded by Gov. Curran. On a voice vote, all vote in favor. No abstentions. Motion carries unanimously.

Motion by Gov. Karoleff that effective with the beginning of the next fiscal year, salaried employees would receive payment at the end of each month. Seconded by Vice President Heinrich. On a voice vote, all vote in favor. Gov. Huggins abstains. Motion carries unanimously.

A general discussion was held on the subject of CSNS achieving an exemption from its obligation to pay Illinois sales tax on purchases it makes. The Convention Chairman reported on the result of a recent administrative law appeal decision within the Illinois Department of Revenue that may provide a basis for the achievement of a sales tax exemption for CSNS. Legal Counsel Bieda indicated that he will conduct further study and investigation of this issue.

Treasurer Huggins reported that our various trademark and service mark rights would be expiring in 2018 and stated that the appropriate renewal applications would be submitted in a timely fashion.

Motion by Gov. Irick to accept Treasurer Huggins' action plan for renewal of trademark and service mark rights. Motion seconded by Gov. Oglesby. On a voice vote, all vote in favor. No abstentions. Motion carries unanimously.

A general discussion was held relative to the practice of hiring and paying elected officials to work at the Convention in roles separate and apart from their responsibilities as elected officials. The Convention Chairman pointed out that the Board, by contract, had placed the responsibility for hiring, firing, promotion and compensation of convention employees solely with the Convention Chairman. He stated that in the exercise of that discretion it would be his practice to not hire any elected official for a salaried position on the convention staff unless the elected official had been a paid employee prior to being installed in elected office.

Motion by Past President Perdue to adjourn the meeting. Seconded by Gov. Kimmel. On a voice vote, all vote in favor. No abstentions. Motion carries unanimously.

Meeting adjourned at 8:35 PM.

COMMENTS ON 'MOTTO' DOLLAR BILL

Gordon Canfield, a congressman from New Jersey, said recently, "I was privileged, along with a number of House and Senate members early last November, to go to the NATO Parliamentary Conference in Paris, which was a prelude to the high summit talks. When I left Capitol Hill I got from the Sergeant at Arms some of the new dollar bills that were being issued. I was so pleased to note that they had the words IN GOD WE TRUST. Believe you me, it was a thrill to see the way they were received overseas; in France, England, Germany. I heard men and women in the stores, waiters and others, say, 'Isn't this wonderful?'" ....

Mrs. Ivy Baker Priest also commented on the new motto, saying, "We have had very fine and favorable comment on that legend, both in letters from people and in meetings with people about the country ... Many people are very appreciative of the fact that this motto has long been engraved on our coins, but they are happy to have it on our currency now."

The Director of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, Henry J. Holtzclaw, said that "We were working against a deadline when these first presses (dry process) came in which accounts for the high spoilage that we had on such a large volume of our work. It was announced that the first date of issuance of $1.00 silver certificates bearing the motto IN GOD WE TRUST would be October 1. We were quite anxious to have on hand a sufficient quantity for a token nationwide distribution."

CODE of ETHICS for the Central States Numismatic Society

(Adopted by the CSNS Board of Governors, October 6, 2007)

Membership in the Central States Numismatic Society is a privilege extended to persons and organizations worthy thereof and is not a matter of right. Such membership can be maintained unless the Board of Governors determines that the conduct of a member has been such that, in the best interests of the Society, his/her membership should be terminated.

For the guidance and instruction of its members, this Code of Ethics is duly adopted by the Board of Governors under the authority vested in it by the Constitution & By-Laws of the Society.

As members of the Central States Numismatic Society, we agree to comply with the following standards of conduct:

1. To support and be governed by the Constitution and By-Laws of the Society, and by such rules, policies and regulations that may be in force from time to time.

2. To practice conduct so as to bring no reproach or discredit to the Society, or impair the prestige of its membership.

3. To base all dealings on the highest plane of justice, fairness and morality, and to refrain from making false statements as to the condition of a numismatic item or as to any other related matter.

4. To neither buy or sell numismatic items of which the ownership is questionable.

5. To conform to the accepted standards of dignified advertising.

6. To take immediate steps to correct any error taken in any transaction.

7. To never sell, produce or advertise a counterfeit, copy, restrike or reproduction of any numismatic item that is not clearly indicated by the word "counterfeit," "copy," "restrike," or "reproduction" incused in the metal or printed on the paper thereof with the exception of items generally accepted by numismatists and not in any way represented as genuine.

8. To represent numismatic items to be genuine only when, to the best of knowledge and belief, they are authentic.

9. To never intentionally misrepresent the grade, condition, provenance or other material fact of numismatic items.

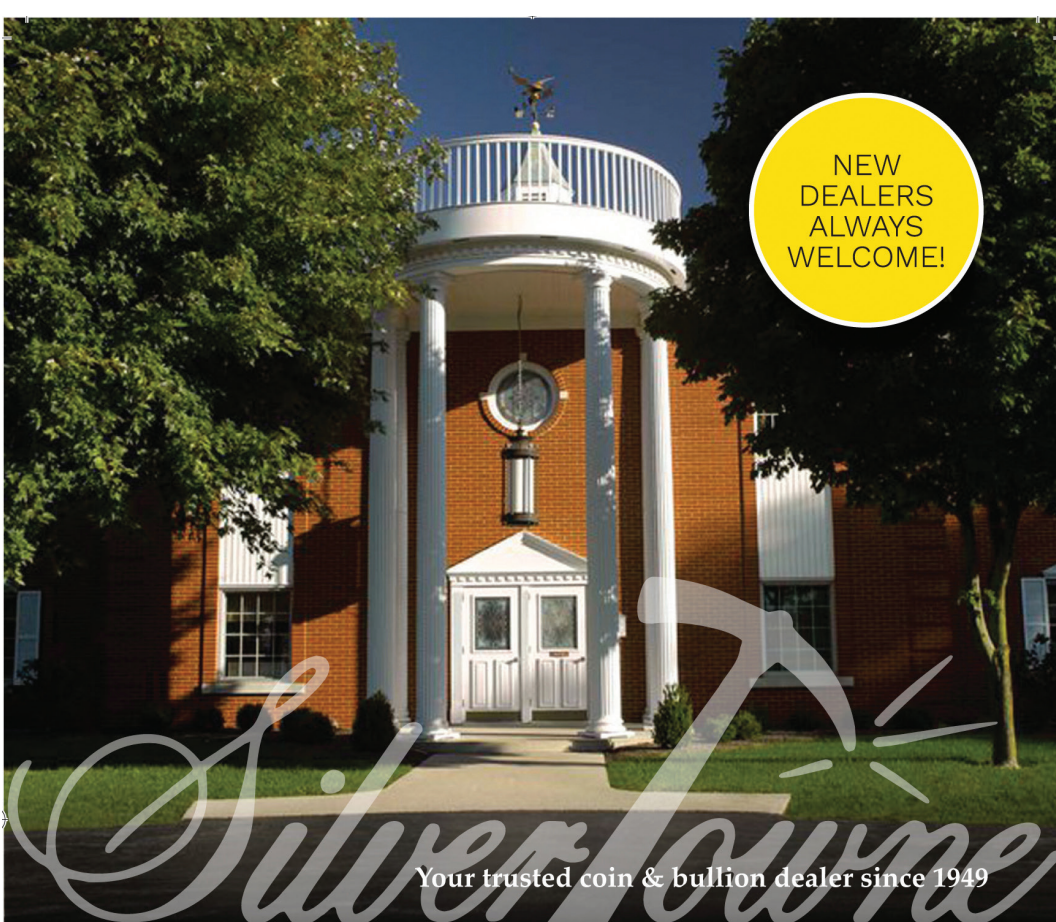

10. To fulfill all contracts, either oral or written, to make prompt payments upon delivery and to return any numismatic items that are not satisfactory.

11. To give aid to members in their quest for numismatic knowledge.

12. To abide by all local, state and federal laws relating to numismatic matters and items and, when applicable, to assist in the prosecution of violators of said laws.

13. To put the welfare of the Central States Numismatic Society above any personal gain.

A breach of this Code of Ethics shall be cause for action by the Board of Governors.
